HALF BREED HORSE.

J. P. Prudhomme, scrip commissioner who returned from the north yesterday in company with Mr. Conroy, reports that some further scrip claims arising in the district of Athabasca were placed before him. The evidence was taken and will be submitted to Commissioner McKenna in Ottawa for his decision. The sittings of the half breed commissioner were closed but the government took into consideration that several half breeds of the district of Athabasca had been unable to meet the original commission owing to their absence while hunting or while working as boatmen on the Athabasca and Peace rivers. Mr. Prudhomme also assisted treaty Commissioner Conroy in the payment of annuities at the points touched. Special advancement in civilization was noticed on Kinross's reserve on Lesser Slave lake. The crops of last season had been entirely successful.

Kip to New Year's day the party experienced considerable severe weather, the thermometer ranging from 30° to 50° below zero. After New Year's the weather was much milder.

Messrs. Prudhomme and Conroy remain until Tuesday. They have no authority to hear claims at Edmonton, but they may receive instructions to do so before they leave.

UNCLE TOM'S CABIN.
Wilson's "Uncle Tom's Cabin" troupe was greeted last night by one of the largest crowds that ever turned out to witness a play in Edmonton. The hall was packed till there was not a standing room, and many were turned away.

Little Lois Wilson, the 7-year-old girl, who took the part of Eva, was well received and is certainly quite clever for her age, and her 5-year-old brother, Howard, is a pretty singer. Bert Imson, as Marks, created much fun, acting well a comic part. Harry Mullins, as Legree, was typical, while W. A. Nairn took the part of Uncle Tom fairly well.

Two features of the show should be mentioned. One is the agency of advertising talk and the other the advertising interruption to sell tickets for the after show.

The after show was as all after shows are, strictly rotten.

A further report from the London Fair sales states that black and brown deer skins were 20 per cent. lower than last March at the Hudson's Bay sale, and grizzly bear the same.

LESSER SLAVE LAKE AND GRAND PRAIRIE
 Geo. Morin, of Lesser Slave lake, was in town last week.

Five years ago Mr. Morin rode from Fort Steele, British Columbia, through the Crow's Nest Pass and north to Lesser Slave lake. He was on his way to the far north to prospect for gold, but as his four pack horses were drowned near Slave lake and as his funds were running low he decided to remain where he was for the time being. He was very much surprised to find a country of equal climate, of abundant natural resources and one that appeared to be simply waiting for man to come in and take possession. The country near Lesser Slave lake is rolling, with numerous large hay meadows. There is an abundant supply of first class water, and also good timber for building purposes. When Mr. Morin came into the country a person could ride almost any place, but now since the advent of wet summers numerous muskegs are to be found. However, the lay of the land permits of easy drainage and the soil, for productive qualities, is second to none. Mr. Morin roughly estimates the population of the Slave lake district at from six to eight hundred. The prevailing inhabitants are half-breeds who are good-hearted, accommodating, and have fairly good English. Both the English and Roman Catholic churches have flourishing missions here and there is also a good school in operation.

The lakes and rivers of the district teem with fish, which can be caught readily with the hook and line as well as with nets. In the late fall the Indians and half-breeds catch immense quantities of these fish and store them away for their winter supply. The climate of this district is mild, although Mr. Morin has known it to drop as low as forty or forty-five below zero. Such cold snaps are of very short duration. Mr. Morin has visited the Grand Prairie district, 250 miles northwest of Edmonton, and speaks of it in the most glowing terms, not failing to describe it by the inevitable phrase "God's country." There is a solid block of 3,000,000 acres of virgin prairie, rich and fertile. The balmey chinook breezes are continually felt here and entire ranges out all winter. There is an abundance of natural grass. Grains and vegetables grow luxuriantly and ripen in season. Grand Prairie is an especially favored district. The hills around are covered with excellent timber and are rich in mineral deposits. The water supply is excellent. The rivers are teeming with mountain trout, and game such as moose and bear is numerous. A railroad is all that is needed to ensure the immediate settlement of this grand country.

WHITE WALK LAKE
 A recent visit to the lumber camps reveals a series of fires of industry. There are over 200 men in all, nearly 225, west of Stony Plain, engaged in felling the forest and preparing it for man's use.

The scene of most activity is Fraser's where now two saw mills are converting the logs into lumber in the bush, before hauling it to the dump ready for rafting in spring and summer.

The lack of snow and the continued mild weather make hauling a difficult matter.

A private letter shown to your correspondent from a Wisconsin party says that over 100 parties will settle in this vicinity next spring. They will be heartily welcome if of the right class.

Our neighbor, Mr. H. H. Aldine, has just received notice of his appointment as postmaster of the new post office here and as mail carrier from Stony Plain to Lake St. Anne. The new mails will be open on or about Feb. 1st, as soon as arrangements can be made. The public are to be congratulated on securing the services of so reliable a party for these responsible positions.

Almost every Stony family on the reserve has put a board fence in his house or is about to do so. They get the lumber from Fraser's mill, and pay for it out of the sale of their fish catch and not by government aid. And yet there are some who cannot see that the labor of our missionaries and farm instructors are producing any results. They call Indian missions "sinkholes."

The catch of fish is very large this season. Congratulations, Mr. Bulletin, on your "Daily" venture. May you reap abundant success.

HORSE HILLS

Owing to the mild spell of last week, the main trails is quite bare and slippery, but fortunately there is plenty of snow on the sides of the trail to make good sleighing for the rest of the winter.

Joe. Milne and C. Corberand were the guests of Mr. P. O'Neil last week.

A meeting of the trustees of this district was held in the school house on the 10th inst. As the present school building has been condemned, the chief question considered was the erection of a new one, which it was finally decided would be of brick and steel. Besides other routine business transacted, Mr. Borgwardt was elected to replace Mr. W. Clark, whose term had expired.

School was opened on Monday, last after the holidays vacation. Mr. Hibbs, lately of Victoria, is now occupying the position of teacher.

Wall's rink and the Birch Lake skating rink, are both in rather bad condition at present. Owing to the numerous cracks in the ice and the difficulty encountered in trying to flood the rinks, the attendance has diminished considerably during the last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Gardiner have had their home brightened by the appearance of a daughter, born to them on the 5th inst.

Mrs. K. McKat and her two children are now laid up with a severe attack of whooping cough. This disease is not as prevalent now, as it was last winter.

Rev. McLeod, Presbyterian minister, of Belmont, has resumed preaching at the old stand No. 286. Services are held every Sunday fortnight at 8 p. m.

Geo. Corby, of Crummett, dropped dead suddenly on Friday morning last. After having been to the bush for a load of posts, he was returning home, when he remarked to a neighbor that his feet were very cold, at the same time he dropped suddenly to the ground, and on being picked up was found to be dead. The cause of death was probably due to heart failure. Deceased was of an advanced age and unmarried. His relatives have taken charge of the interment.

A letter arrived here last week, addressed to some Galician by the name of ——. The postmaster after numerous unsuccessful attempts at procuring it, finally gave up. In alarm, out of fear of becoming subject to an attack of "rampantism" the postmaster.

—H. Brown, the conical hustler for the Massey-Harris Co., was rounding up the farmers on the hill last week, and sold so many different kinds of machinery that his blank forms ran out. The last report states that he was seen between Belmont and the "Hills" going at a 250 gal (to Edmonton for a new supply.

Willinson Bros. shipped two cars of hogs to Winnipeg same time ago, which will probably be re-shipped west again, when converted into hams and bacon. This should not be so. Winnipeg prices for live hogs is generally 1-1/2 cents per lb; higher than paid at Edmonton. Why it should be so is a conundrum to the people here who raise hogs.

Freight for the Landing, Slave lake, Lac la Biche and other points in the north, is passing through here in large quantities. The roads are reported to be in excellent condition, and freighters are capable of hauling fairly large loads.

Although the railroad excitement here, has somewhat abated since the survey party has moved away, there is still a certain amount of discussion on the subject. A great deal of fuss is being made by some of the farmers, through whose places the line passes. Some "kicking" because the line runs through the middle of their field, others because the station site was not located on their place and some more because the line happens to run through or between some of their buildings. Of course it is sometimes a great inconvenience to have a railroad running so near one's dog, still it is a consolation to know that riding will be easier at hand, when by the province may be shipped to greater advantage. Agent Snow, of the C. N. R., has made arrangements for two sidings between Edmonton and Fort Saskatchewan, one on the property of Mr. J. Malone on the township line, and the other on Mr. E. Coley's land. Besides the arrangements for the sidings Mr. Stovel has also arranged for the right of way with most all the land owners through whose land the line is to pass. Construction is to begin this coming summer.

Jan. 19, '03.

J. Lavigne made a business trip to Edmonton on Tuesday.

Rev. S. Bouchard drove to St. Albert on Sunday afternoon to visit his lordship the bishop.

The trustees of the Plante public school have placed a good sized bell on the school house and its tone may be daily heard, to ring out the old, ring in the new, ring happy bells across the snow.

Mr. Bidue has his portable saw mill in active operation this winter and is changing his location throughout the district, where the demand is greatest. Many buildings are being erected in this district.

Feeding Work Horses

By F. W. Hodson.

Food required by the working horse. The horse has a smaller stomach than the ox, and consequently must be fed less at a time. It has less power to digest coarse foods. It eats much hay, as it must do all its chewing before the food is swallowed. For these reasons it requires a longer time to eat, and its food should be more concentrated. It wants only a little coarse food at a time. Most people feed too much rather than too little, especially of hay. According to the tables of standard rations prepared by the German investigators, a 1000 pound horse requires 11.5 pounds of digestible food daily when doing moderate work, 13.6 pounds for average work, and 16.6 pounds for heavy work. With a basal ration of 10 pounds of hay, the grain needed to furnish the above quantities of digestible nutrients when consisting of a mixture in equal parts of corn and oats, would be approximately 11.5 pounds, 15 pounds and 20 pounds for the three sorts of labor. Savard who made observations covering a number of years with 32,000 omnibuses, army and draft horses, came to the conclusion that a horse performing ordinary work requires at the rate of 1.25 pounds of digestible nutrients per 100 pounds of live weight. This is equivalent to 12.5 pounds of digestible food daily for a 1000 pound horse, a quantity not inconsistent with the German standard.

Suitable foods for horses. It is necessary especially with hard working horses, that a large proportion of the daily ration be composed of the more concentrated stuffs. A horse would have to consume over 40 lbs. of hay to obtain 17.5 lbs. of digestible nutrients, the approximate amount required daily by a horse at severe labor. Ten to twelve pounds of hay daily is quite sufficient for a draft horse. The changes of work horses on many farms are kept constantly supplied with hay, which is not only wasteful but injurious to the animal as well. Recent researches have shown that muscular effort is largely sustained by the carbohydrates and fats of the food, and it is probably true that rations composed of the ordinary farm products, meadow hay, straw, silage, roots and the cereal grains will be found sufficiently rich in protein without the addition of nitrogenous feeding stuffs. Doubtless in cases of heavy labor, the addition of a little oil meal or other nitrogenous food would be beneficial. According to the German standards the nutritive ratio should be from 1:7 to 1:6 according to the severity of labor, the daily weight of protein to be from 4.5 to 2.5 pounds. Oats are regarded by many as essential to the maintenance of the driving or working horse, but many other foods are successfully used in their place, wheat bran, corn, barley, dried brewers' grains, &c., are often used instead of oats without any bad results, and frequently with considerable advantage in the cost of the ration.

Timothy hay, although not particularly rich in digestible nutrients, is preferred by most horsemen, chiefly on account of the freedom from dust, and the ease with which it may be distinguished from other grasses. With working horses whose sustenance is largely supplied by the grain food, timothy is probably the most satisfactory roughage, but bright clean clover is excellent for idle horses and colts, and requires very little grain in addition to form a suitable ration.

Some sample rations: Some good rations for 1000 pound horses at moderate work are suggested by Jordan:

1. 10 lbs. timothy or mixed hay, 11-12 lbs. oats.
2. 10 lbs. hay, 10-12 lbs. oats and barley equal parts by weight.
3. 10 lbs. hay, 8 lbs. oats, 4 lbs. brewers' grains.
4. 10 lbs. hay, 8 lbs. oats, 4 lbs. wheat bran.
5. 11 lbs. hay, 31-2 lbs. corn, 4 lbs. wheat bran, 4 lbs. brewers' grains.
6. 10 lbs. hay, 5 lbs. corn, 41-2 lbs. barley.
7. 10 lbs. hay, 5 lbs. corn, 61-2 lbs. wheat bran.
8. 10 lbs. hay, 5 lbs. corn, 6 lbs. brewers' grains.
9. 10 lbs. hay, 41-2 lbs. barley, 4 lbs. wheat bran, 3 lbs. brewers' grains.

Silage, roots and other green food may often be substituted for a minor part of the hay with advantage to the animal's appetite and health.

Where the work is harder the amount of grain in the ration should be increased, but the amount of hay should remain stationary. The increase in feed should be greater proportionately than the increase in the amount of work done, and as a general rule old horses should be fed better than young ones. That judgment which comes of experience will always be a safer guide than any mechanical rules for feeding, but this is certain however; whatever feeding stuffs are used, and whatever order of feeding is adopted, regularity and uniformity should be maintained in both feeding and watering. If water is always available, a horse will not take enough to injure himself, but with working horses it will always be found better to give them their regular and largest supply previous to feeding, and it may also be well to supply a limited quantity after feeding. When much heated or fatigued a horse should have water only in small quantities.

The Arabs have a proverb,—"Rest and fat are the greatest enemies of the horse." Hard labor or an abundance of exercise should be followed by rest, and heavy feeding, and when a period of idleness comes for the horse, the grain ration should be cut down one-half at least, or even withdrawn altogether where the fodder is of particularly good quality.

W. C. Edwards' method of feeding. Some years ago the W. C. Edwards Co. of Rockland, Ont., adopted a system of feeding their horses which has proved very satisfactory. Mr. Edwards gives the following description of it: "We employ say forty horses about our mills here in the summer season. In the rear of our stables we have feed room where our cut straw for bedding and our cut hay, oats and ground feed are kept; here we have two mixing boxes where the rations for the horses are mixed before feeding; the cut hay is put into these boxes and is thoroughly soaked with water 12 hours before it is fed. The ground feed is mixed dry, and before feeding is thoroughly mixed with the wet hay. The ration we started out with was 4 lbs. cut hay, 1-2 lb. bran and 5 lbs. ground oats and barley to each horse night and morning, and 4 lbs. dry oats at noon only. Our horses are generally of large size, and are doing successfully hard work, and we found this ration too small for them and we gradually increased it until we settled down to this: 5 lbs. hay, five lbs. ground grain, and 1-2 pound of bran to each horse morning and night, and 8 lbs. of dry oats at noon only (no hay), and this we find ample for the largest horses doing the most excessive work. Our saving is at least 10 lbs. of hay per day for each horse, and 5 lbs. of grain for each. Not only is this the case, but our horses are healthier and better in every way. After the old system it was a common thing for us to lose from time to time five horses every summer with colic and inflammation, but in the past seven summers under our new system not only have we not lost one horse but we have not had a sick horse. A much smaller ration than we feed would be ample for farm horses, or for any horses doing ordinary work. We may add, also, that with this system of feeding hay together with the free use of wheat bran and a little ground oats mixed with it, we find that we can develop colts in a summer as we have never seen them developed before."
